

SOCIAL AND OTHER INTERESTS OF WOMEN

At the general meeting of the Progress club, to be held Saturday afternoon under the auspices of the Civics and Philanthropy departments at the club rooms, Mrs. Mary Schenck Woolman, B. S., of Boston, Mass., is to be presented. Last week she spoke before the State Teachers' federation at Indianapolis. Mrs. Woolman is an investigator and lecturer and was secured to address the club members through Miss Ada Hillier. She will speak on "Economics of Clothing" and will include the subjects of "Wise Purchasing" and "Sympathetic Appreciation of Manufacturers and Retailers' Difficulties in Meeting the Demands for Effective but Inexpensive Clothing." The address will be of special interest to those concerned with educational and industrial problems of girls and women in American cities.

A rare treat is in store for those who hear a woman so well educated and one who has won so much fame as Mrs. Woolman. At present she is chairman of the committee on education of the Massachusetts Federation of Women's club and was formerly professor of domestic art at the Teachers' college of Columbus university. She was the first director of the Manhattan Trade School for Girls, and chairman of the women's committee of the National Society for Promotion of Industrial Education.

Toward the close refreshments were served to 50 guests.

Dr. Zella Allen Dixon of Oak Park, Ill., was presented in a talk on motion pictures Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Charles A. Daugherty, 730 W. Washington av., by a group of clubs, the Wednesday club, the Woman's Literary club and the Clio circle.

To prove the great and important part the motion picture is playing in the lives of everyone today, especially those who are otherwise unable to gain education and knowledge and to the club women who are interested in the social welfare of the city, Dr. Dixon cited numerous instances where motion pictures had served to enlighten the people where other means had failed.

Dr. Dixon gave a personal touch to her address by telling of some of her experiences in the education of a young foreigner and of a young girl in strained circumstances, who was made to see the results of her act should she give way to the temptation to steal.

The revision of plays worth while Dr. Dixon said, was one phase in which the picture companies of today were lacking. The speaker further discussed the master plays that have been reproduced on the screens. Dr. Dixon was formerly connected with the University of Chicago but is now making lecture tours over the country. She is the guest while in the city of Mrs. George B. Bettner, 1317 E. Jefferson blvd.

Willette, a violin solo by Master Stephen Sperry with Mrs. Sperry assisting at the piano, a vocal duet by Stephen and Stanton Sperry and a reading by Mrs. Charles Bradley. Rexford, the hostesses, served refreshments to 30.

At the meeting of section one of the department of literature of the Progress club Wednesday afternoon in the club rooms, Mrs. E. G. Ketting outlined the "Seven Against Thebes," giving the history leading up to the drama. Mrs. Victor F. Jones, Miss Dorothea Kelley, Miss Minnie Adams and Miss Edith Holbrook gave readings from the play, and Miss Katherine Campbell gave a paper on "Lyric Poetry Before the Periclean Age." The department will meet Nov. 15.

WOMAN WHO DYE.

Many a woman dyes her hair because she believes it will make her more beautiful. And everyone has noticed it because her complexion does not tone into the line of the hair about her face, and her eyebrows seem meant for someone else.

If your hair is light naturally you want to look as bright as possible, and if it is dark you want it to stay that way and not become streaked after the shampoo. There are certain harmless ingredients which may be added to the shampoo water, and those will help you to retain all the natural beauty that your hair possesses.

Brunettes may help the color of their hair by using an egg or a little soda beaten into California claret. This read wine takes its color from the skin of the black grapes of which it is made and that contains tannin, which is good for the scalp and hair roots. The yolks of eggs or subcarbonate of potash or soda are excellent for very dark hair.

How fortunate you are if your hair is light, for the sun is always ready to shed its beneficial rays on your head and aid in the lightening process. The commonly accepted household bleaches—ammonia, borax and soda—will lighten and brighten the hair a little for a day or two after the shampoo but they must be used with great care for they have a very drying effect on the scalp. And after they have procured a pretty coiffure for a few days, the hair may seem more lifeless and dead than ever before.

A harmless mixture for lightening the hair is one made of equal parts of honey and rhubarb stalks, which are steeped in three parts of white wine. Let this mixture stand 24 hours, strain it, and use as a lotion when the head it wet. Massage it into the scalp and let it dry on the hair.

What the French Maid Told Marjorie

BY JANE LOWELL.

MAKING A WINDOW SEAT.

"We have a bay window Marie," remarked Marjorie with a puzzled expression in her eyes, which seems to be useless. "How would a window seat do?"

"Just the thing I should say," answered Marie, "wait a moment I think I can refer to my scrap book and then tell you just how to have one made."

"You should have a seat made in three sections following the outline of the window sills along the further edge and built across the front. The top of each section being made as a lid on hinges makes it possible to use the interior as three storage boxes, and these you can have painted with cedar oil as a protection against moths and cover the bottom with insulating paper.

"The box seat is finished on the outside to harmonize with the woodwork of the room, and you can ornament the front surface by making three panels in the center spaces and marked off with strips of narrow moulding.

"If the bay window space is too shallow to allow a comfortable window seat to be made, the top of the box may be used to hold window boxes or potted plants.

"That will be lovely Marie," said Marjorie gratefully. "I will use it for a real seat and have it made immensely."
